i find it ever so slightly amusing that the topic creator is from Turkey, and one of the posters above who's opinion is essentially "meh.." is from Hungary.

The Quick Read Paragraph:

This video was not pleasant to watch. I'm not a vegetarian. I see nothing wrong with eating animals but i am opposed to unethical practises/torturing; I go for free range stuff because of this.

At least kill the bloody thing before you skin it. Kill it by cheap means or something. And slamming a pig against the floor to kill it is clearly just an atrocity. There must be a cheap way of killing things.

If the authorities made it compulsory to fix issues presented in the video, such as anaesthetics, that'd be good for everyone; The animals suffer less and the farms don't loose money paying for anaesthetics because every farm has to.
