Okay so I was reading this tutorial about deleting polygons around a building and then moving the meshes together to form a nice border around the building but yet open under the building.

Like in single player you can go underground because you delete the polygons under it.

So I am having a hard time with alligning them up does anybody have any tips what so ever?

EDIT: BTW it is not really 6:23 am my clock is like 3 hours behind. Just so your not like omg early in the morning!?!?!?
