I've had the window a couple of years now - When I bought it, it was just called a "Server Window"

The 7000 is a lovely sink - Easily shaved 10c off my Volcano 7+ - And that was loud as hell - I can't hear the 7000, even at high speed.

I would recommend getting a decent shim if you're going with an A64 - The 7000 weighs a hell of a lot, and won't sit evenly for long without one.

And call me ignorant, but at 6:30 I can't be bothered to search for 'C' class.
