If you've only got two drives and they were setup in RAID 0, just split them up. Put your OS on one drive, and setup the page file on the other.

If you're gaming (which I'll assume you're going to be for obvious reasons), put the games on the OS drive as well. They'll load quickly, and if a drive fails, you won't lose too much data as per Gen_Blacky's concerns.
