Game-Maps.Net has been updated to the new version of the PaFileDB software. You may have noticed that the layout of our download pages has changed, this is due to this update. This update should make the system better and easier to use, and make downloads more efficient.

Also as always we are in need of staff for various games, if you think you have what it takes send me a PM with the game that you want to be staff on.

If you find any problems with the new updated software or have any suggestions either post them here or send me a PM.
