

---

Subject: Re: A level day

Posted by CarrierII on Thu, 20 Aug 2009 17:35:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Nightma12 wrote on Thu, 20 August 2009 18:24 Thing with me, you give me an ok paper... I perform to my potential..

You give me a hard paper... or something completely different to the past papers that i prepared for. I get all stressed out and perform even worse than i normally would on that paper.

In real life i would just take a 'time out' and come back to it later prepared... but you cant do that in an exam

Sucks really :/ I cant exactly go around blameing the exam on me failing the paper can i? UMS is meant to account for that, just dousnt really help me lol

In real life, you'd just take your time, some of those problems need more time given to them, the entire method of examinations is flawed, but I'm at a loss for a substitute.

---