EA never owned this domain. The RenegadeForums.com domain is owned by me and was always owned by me. RenForums.com was purchased by someone else who was going to "compete" with me but once Westwood agreed that I should be responsible for them, they transferred the domain to me. They, in fact, only owned it for a few days, maybe a week.

EA and I have NO contract whatsoever, nor did I have any such contract with Westwood.

Christine,

I like the URL "renegadeforums.com", as well as your persistence in the community. I think you're the best bet for the renegade community moving forward. How fast can you get the URL "http://www.renegadeforums.com" operational and pointing to your message boards?

Please respond to me via censored.

Thanks.

The funny thing is, Westwood's intent was just for me to make the n00bstories.com forums the official ones for Renegade. However, I felt it was in the best interest of the community to make a separate forum. So, Blazer and I spent the better part of 2 days to use a script made by the late DOM_TreyD to migrate the majority of the posts from the Westwood-hosted forum over to a new one that I skinned to look like Westwood's UBB Forum. We were not able to have the user accounts because of legal reasons, but since the forum we set up look so much like "home", we got hundreds of signups in the first few days and never looked back.
