

---

Subject: Re: Tournament seeding.

Posted by liquidv2 on Mon, 24 Aug 2009 22:58:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Jimbo27 wrote on Sat, 22 August 2009 22:38 Well considering more than 50% of Jelly players are actually CW players that don't feel like playing with the newer cw players, I'll vote for them. there are players on the jelly team that have been a part of that community for years, if not from the very start; they could very well play for either clanwars or jelly clanwars.cc has fallen apart, but jelly has been moving along for years, so you could say it makes more sense for them to represent something that's still there i don't really see cw.cc as a community because it doesn't even have a specific server that it's centered around; if anything it's a league the term community is pretty loose so it's easy to argue otherwise, but it's still something to think about don't worry about it, the cw.cc team is still set to win

---