That's a weird bug indeed :/ I'll be repacking this release anyway as soon as I get level edit and my other stuff re-installed.

I actually played through all that for a while lol. It was just the westwood skins at first then when I got to gdis base the WF was invisible. So I just walked along the invisible wall until I found the door and got inside. Then everything was visible inside and I killed it. Then I got in my buggy and drove back to base and everything started disappearing. Was the first time I played the map since the map replacement.
