"You have no idea of what type of propulsion system drives any vehicle in Tiberian Sun "

So what makes you so sure that it should be able to glide down a cliff? You dont know what type it is, no one here really does. Reborn decided to make it appear to hover using wind turbines, and that illusion is succesfully created by simply making a "tank without treads that has an animation of a fake hovering sequence." It works, so who cares if its "fake?"
