Renguard uses SVKP.sys, and consequentially, does not, in general, work on x64 systems.

The admin in question is probably an ex BHS member, and therefore has access to a private (non runtime packed) build, just as it is known that Mac (I think) has a private Linux build. (Which also has no runtime packing, and therefore cannot be released)

You need to take this up, in a mature fashion, with the n00bstories admins.

So in your case do just like carr said.

Yes and i noticed my miss spelling there, but i laughed @ your chance @ my misspelling of it to revert it back @ that simpson episode. good one.
