

---

Subject: Re: Seriously?

Posted by Cunin on Wed, 23 Sep 2009 17:19:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I was the one who took screenshots of those "supposedly" private forums. "Supposedly" because what we discussed there is the reason behind the exodus, nothing else. There may be sensitive data in a private thread that people wouldn't want to make public, and I can agree with it, but in that thread that didn't happen, it was "simply" an heated discussion where all mods and admins blamed 2 persons for their mistakes, and I've only seen 1 of those 2 persons complaining about leaking that (if luv2pb complained too then I might have missed it, and anyway it wouldn't change the point), and of course that person is the one that we blamed in those threads. I knew that all that happened after the exodus would have happened, that's why I took those screenshots, to counter whatever lie any of those 2 persons would have spread with absolutely clear facts. That happened in the past with other people already, so I took my precautions.

Now I can understand that she doesn't like the idea of any of us spreading those information, but even removing PM privileges here wouldn't stop that. I never used PM to spread that stuff, nor is my intention to do so, but idk about egoflux (he's the one that made that page telling the story, with my screenshots in it), I'll let him speak if he wants to (he's very busy with life lately so I don't think he'll post here at all).

It's not because I don't want to spread that information that I won't use PM, but because I would rather do it publicly than privately.

Whoever asked me about that page, I gave them the link and let them spread it with their friends, but in our IRC/forums, not here nor in ns's forums.

My point in all of this is that it's very easy to say that those information were private when only 1 or 2 persons out of all the involved ones wants that kept private. It's an easy way out to keep people away from reading that stuff. You might agree with her because you can only see the sentence "private information", but if you were us, you wouldn't see it that way. Do you really expect so many people leaving NS without saying a word about it? Letting her say "lol they are jelos my party so they left us" in her IRC to people who was wondering why we left that place and other assorted lies without doing anything?

And what about all those mods that weren't there when we left, that came back to find NOTHING in NS's forums about our leaving (they moved all the threads in their private section that only her and luv can see), and she told them her invented story about the exodus (but calling us faildus obviously), so that now we have people who once we were close friends with, turned to people that thinks that we are the assholes.

Fortunately most people aren't dumb, that's why many mods later decided to come listen to our side of the story, and eventually chose to stay with us.

You can probably blame only me and egoflux (me for taking screenshots and him for compiling that nice page with the story) about all of this, but seriously...I don't even think we are to blame. This is a consequence. Just a consequence.

---