Well, I'll test the installation on a different computer. If it works, I'll have to devise a way to embed the serial into the program and register it with the system. Has any work been done on this already?

Well i went over to a buds place , used his pc and went to my ftpsite and downloaded the iso and a few other files and no problems in the download or opening any of the files,so yeah like you said , i think it is something on your end for sure, good luck with that.

Sorry to hear your pc is in such bad shape.
