I just looked at this picture which I think is from the original Command & Couquer.

I noticed that the smaller barrels under the main ones seem to not be there, but are further back and look as if they support the two main ones. Also, I'm thinking of either scrapping the basket or adding additional detail and may change the lights that are on the far front and rear.

I would like if you gave your opinions on what I could do, such as change a few things.
