Also, if you strictly follow the guidelines of what an 'advantage skin' is, then "making the game look better for me," is considered an advantage in itself. :V

Anything non-standard IS considered an advantage (Including transparent skins, you can see through the enemy)

As far as I'm concerned, if you make/use a skin made strictly for improved visibility (considered advantage skin), YOU ARE A FAG.

If you're one of the people that say "LOL ADVANTAGE BAN HIM/HER/OTHER" when this was not intended, you are a FAG.

I've seen/made some skins that could help visibility but that was not the point (see Black GDI skin pack).

Clear scopes, IMO, is an advantage that is rather annoying. I tried to make an awesome scope skin but it keeps coming up clear.
