

---

Subject: "We all know you hate something better than yours"

Posted by Sparxxx on Tue, 19 Aug 2003 20:55:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

why must this community always agree about small things? Other communities are totally different, everybody helps everybody. When something is really bad they say "you can do this better and not that looks like shit". Say what is bad and what can be improved and how you would do it. Another thing is that people always would become the best. They see every Mod as their enemy. Why many only want to have some fun by making mods for others and see the work they do is played by other Gamers.

---