

---

Subject: Re: Clanwars.cc

Posted by Spoony on Thu, 22 Oct 2009 07:16:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

liquidv2 wrote on Wed, 21 October 2009 23:07: i don't believe that every single player from clanwars.cc who did not use the pointmod used in clanwars or did not like the pointmod were all players who had a habit of completely disregarding any admin rules that they felt got in the way of their advantage and got caught rigging polls several times. then i guess you forgot what happened last time. if you remember there were something like 6-7 people currently arguing against the pointsfix, every single one of whom had a really crappy record in terms of honesty, fairplay etc.

liquidv2 wrote on Wed, 21 October 2009 23:07: i believe that applies to some of them, but who supported the pointmod? i believe it was only yourself and whiskey? you mean to tell me that every other player in the clanwars community

No, I said everyone vehemently opposed to it was the kind of player who didn't listen to the admin (i.e. broke rules all the time), and therefore was in no position to expect the admin to listen to them. Although, of course, I went to incredible lengths to listen to them.

liquidv2 wrote on Wed, 21 October 2009 23:07: why do you even bother hosting a ladder in such a horrible place full of poll-rigging and rule-breaking hooligans?

i guess i just think the game needs a clan ladder for the benefit of those who play fair, even if they're a minority.

---