it's around that time of the month where you get so upset at someone picking on you on a online game to a point where you posted a fake picture of yourself and lied that it was you, 10 minutes later you start paging me saying that it's not really you but it's actually a guy you travelled to a different city with all your mates carrying a baseball bat to beat the shit into him and you start wishing that ss lived near you so you could do the same to him to shut him up and make him stop picking on you anything to be cool eh hitman?
