I'm not casual because I like to compete. But I don't like to compete in retarded tedious points fail ways.

Then you should prolly agree with the pointfix, because without it you are likely to play against retards who just wanna snipe your harv.

Like Spoony has said pointfix encourages more aggressive gameplay, because with it you actually have to do some damage to get the points... which (unless you are playing marathon) are important and decide the winning a lot of times.
