Renegade forums mod section update: If you make skins, and plan on releasing them here, please don't read the replies. You will never want to release something here again.

Call it helping, call it constructive criticism, call it whatever you want.....i, and others, see it as certain people being asses. C'mon, if you think it's shit, then pm him telling him it's not good and why, not try to embarrass him by posting that it looks like shit. It took him time to make it, the least you can do is take it to pm.

I happen to like some of them, and dislike others, but you don't see me saying they look like shit. It's like some people just want to get topics moved to heated discussions, just so they can argue more. If it's not nice in your opinion, then pm him with why you think it isn't.
