

---

Subject: Re: America's Healthcare "Reform" Bill
Posted by nikki6ixx on Sun, 21 Mar 2010 23:57:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

JohnDoe wrote on Sun, 21 March 2010 17:21: What's up with everyone knowing their IQ scores? I've always scored somewhere in the top 10% online, but never cared enough to go through with a real one.

I got mine assessed when I was in university. A science department needed IQ scores for a survey and since they had muffins, I was game.

JohnDoe wrote on Sun, 21 March 2010 17:21
Nikki, these neocon libertarians (I don't even know what to call them, because their philosophy is so contradictory) think that the only thing government has to do is protect our freedoms (most importantly safety)...and of course Christian values.

Well that's why I don't understand these 'tea-partiers.' They argue that government shouldn't stick their nose into everyone's business, which is a fair argument to make... but they don't go after the agencies that are actually eroding their freedoms in the name of protecting freedoms. Nor are they having rallies outside of the Dept. Homeland Security or the Pentagon, both of which spend huge amounts of government cash for what are in many cases some very dubious returns.

---