
Subject: Re: America's Healthcare "Reform" Bill
Posted by nikki6ixx on Tue, 23 Mar 2010 20:09:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Tue, 23 March 2010 13:43 Seriously. I did a little cheer when I heard it passed, and then I hear what's actually in the bill and I go "...That's it?". At times, I have great faith in humanity and believe we're all destined for and capable of great things, times like these just ruin all of that.

It'll save your government a lot of money over the years, and people will get the health coverage they need.

One important aspect is that small businesses will get incentives to buy health plans for their employees which should help attract people, and also lower the cost of operation for those that do offer health as a perk.

No, it's not perfect, but it's better than what was before, especially in regards to preventative care. It means Wendy Welfare Mom and Joe Subdivision won't refuse going to the doctor when they have a bad sore throat, instead of waiting until they get pneumonia. That's not only good for society, but the economy too.
