It does seem to me in the renegade community (and indeed life actually), that One screw-up and you're name is mud.

If only it were just the one screw-up...

Sometimes you have to see past mistakes, and have a little compassion and forgiveness. We've all done things in our lives that have needed forgoing, and we're not proud of.

Things can be forgiven in time, but never forgotten. There's a world of difference.
