His career choice isn't in question by me. His contribution to the Renegade Community as a whole isn't in question by me. I will always respect him for those things. Yet...any one person can be replaced, myself included.

After all, who but a crazily devoted person would blow that much time and money on a game? He makes the "toys" and I imagine he gets enjoyment out of watching people use and like those "toys". Not all of it is tyrannical, just a good portion.

Speedy and reborn are right, hop off Xpert's butt about McDonalds guys. If you are going to be bashing him about that, then you should be bashing me about my long time lack of work as well(hopefully remedied by that interview yesterday).
