

---

Subject: "GIVE ME HIS IP!"

Posted by wilhil on Mon, 25 Aug 2003 15:11:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

lol,

that is what i thought, as i said, i am just intrested, I used to love doing little attacks and stuff on a lan at school, but across the internet with the level of security some people have on there pc, i just didnt think it is possible to willy nilly attack people if all you have is there ip, I understand port scanning and seeing if they have a program running to try and connect and hack them, but still if they have no program, it is impossible to physically break or damage there pc, just there current itnernet connection, but then when they restart it would be ok,

---