The final parts of WW-Gaming are beginning to shutdown finally. The only thing left of the old community has folded into the creation of a new organization - Aspiration Designs. We'll be developing flash movies and such. We've already got some financial support as well as a steadily growing team. I thought I'd just let everyone interested know what happened to us. Our work in the Renegade community went unnoticed and mostly unappreciated until AFTER our gaming community fell apart.

If anyone is interested in writing (character bios, short stories, etc), designing artwork (2d or 3d), animating in Adobe Flash, or voice acting... we're accepting new members to our team. If anyone wishes to create a flash movie project we're more than happy to sponsor the project - we will host all files and provide methods of communication, etc.

With all the said, farewell C&C Renegade and fellow community members.
