

---

Subject: Re: iPhone 4 Lost and Found

Posted by Doitle on Tue, 20 Apr 2010 13:41:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Zion wrote on Tue, 20 April 2010 03:49Gizmodo found/bought a lost 4th Generation iPhone from someone who claimed it as lost and found in a German bar in California yesterday after it was misplaced by the Apple baseband software engineer Gray Powell. They've made a few articles and videos about it here.

Some of the details are, two cameras (the one at the back, and another front facing one), camera flash, micro SIM, and what claims to be a higher resolution screen. There may be other features which are not known, since it won't take any of the older firmware, only OS 4.0.

Apple sent Gizmodo a formal letter asking for it back, so there obviously is something there.

It's a publicity stunt. Apple sent it to Gizmodo to write an article in an attempt to kill the momentum of the HTC Incredible.

---