Aircraftkillerit's based in the same tired old "orcs versus humans" bullshit that everyone and their dog has made a game out of.

It's a genre, Tolkienesque Fantasy to be exact. Certainly you have the right to your opinion, but using that against Savage is the equivalent of someone saying one of the reasons they dislike Renegade is because it's "based in the same tired old 'tanks and infantry' bullshit".

I'm not trying to change your opinion, a lot of people just dislike the fantasy genre.

I'm just saying that a game shouldn't be condemned for that reason and that reason alone (Which you in particular did not do). Orcs and Humans are what a fantasy game contains, not what it's centered around and should be judged upon.
