The vast majority of people making stuff now just play around with photo shop filters, rip things from other textures, or add random, useless things to the model. Check the skins section of cncnz, or cncden, if you want to see some real skins.

So true. Short version is "all (most) of the new stuff sucks."

look at this classic skin found on cncden

the building symbol is different!!

that is the most mind blowing skin i have ever seen in my life, classic old skins are indeed greater than those of today
