Well, I don't know where you got "They only play against themselves" from because I've been playing this game far longer than almost everyone here has, besides Crimson and PiMuRho.

About 1.6 years of gameplay in Renegade. I've been in over 5,000 games during that time.

I've met just about anyone you can think of. Quite to the contrary of what you wrote, I rarely play against or with Crimson\Blazer\whoever else you listed. I usually play on any server I feel like joining. Sniping only, standard games, deathmatch... That's what I play.

As for me being a n00b, sure, I guess you can say that. I haven't met many n00bs with a kill\death ratio of 3.9 with over 150 games on The Pits ladder system, along with a an averaged score of 2,000 points per game.

I don't really know if I'd want to play. The only organized matches I participated in were during my days in -WL- when we had some great clan matches.
