

---

Subject: Re: What's the difference between...

Posted by dr3w2 on Sat, 05 Jun 2010 04:03:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

triple post ftw.

I would suggest you hammer your gateway with pings and see if there are drops in the same amount as when you ping websites.

If the drops are high going to your router - it's your wireless/cabling/router that's the problem. If to your router can be proven fine then you can contact your ISP to have them test the path from your house to them - could be bad cabling going to your modem

---