16:43command and conquer generals is 10x better than starshit

LOL

Known you're noob there. GEN + ZH was a humvee battles and scorp massing/china inf. Whats fun? Sure counter system was decent but rest was a failure.

and.

It has worst balance ever, i quited crap.
lol ok, i bet it was too hard for you and you quit to an easier game like starshit

You always come to conclusion like, he quit,too hard. No thats prehistoric man thoughts. I said I've quit due to IMBALANCEs that were too much, not to skill requirements that generals have almost none compared to sc.

People switched to Gen from Zh and than quit cause shit was still op, go play cw noob and than talk. My time was over there, not only my..

Don't defend yourself. You're a StarCraft player. You don't have to take shit from some faggot Generals player who pretends he's black. But you do need to get better, Mr. Bronze League. >:[

Dover, reason why i;ve been into silver and bronze was the break i've taken from starcraft1, which was over 2 years. I;ve been much better, forgotten many things. I'm practicing against good AI during the time while beta is down, you can easily get a launcher with normal ai's and advanced ones which i have.

<http://sc2.nibbits.com/assets/3/ai-mods> , btw look here if you hadn't known that,yet

Honestly, if you've ever played any RTS at any reasonable level at any point in the past, you should be placing above Bronze League no problem. You'd have to forget a LOT to fall that far, considering just how awful the people in the Bronze league are.

And I know about those AI mods. They aren't that great. They're really no substitute for a good practice partner. :/
