My DGN200 Netgear router is only 6 months old if that. I will try clearing it of other things and standing it on it's side. If this doesn't work, contacting ISP is the next step? Does this sound like a problem on my side, or theirs?

It is a Router/Modem. I'm only 3-4 meters away from it. My room and the Modem/Router is near the kitchen. I realise appliances can interfere with the wireless signal, but again; ping fluctuates without microwaves / blenders going.
