If, by chance, she isn't, then me playing sex-police isn't going to do anybody any good. And neither will playing tough guy.

Your issue isn't with the guy. You don't know him, he doesn't know you, and neither one of you gives a fuck about the other. Your issue is with your sister.

If this is the case, then I can not help her. She would not listen to me for advice. I presume the only thing left is to let my parents deal with it.

That is the case, and I don't see anyone in need of help. You haven't said anything about this guy other than that he looks 20ish and didn't shake your hand. What do you think your parents do, exactly?
