I didn't think I would have to explain it to you, but they don't care what grade you're in, or how many weeks into the school year it is. It's not like they're going to be like

- 1) "Sir! We just found out one of our students smokes pot!"
- 2) "Hmmm...but it's already four weeks into the school year. Is it a 9th grader?"
- 1) "Uhm...no..."
- 2) "Well then forget it. Don't do anything about it"

Next time think hard before you put something in public out on the internet (And that includes your next reply) yet again why would they search out of nowhere... thats pointless time wasteing to search 900+ kids names at random...

I guess you should tell them how pointless their time is when they're throwing you in jail and some biker is tearing you a new asshole. I'm sure that will make them reconsider and let you off.
