

---

Subject: Re: Brands Of Laptops
Posted by Homey on Sun, 31 Oct 2010 10:50:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

ASUS hands down.

I would definitely stay away from Dell/HP/Alienware. Alienware used to be good, until some silly company named Dell took over.

Acers are OK - but not the best quality.

Gateway - haven't heard anything good/bad

Toshiba - I own one (not a gaming lappy) and give it a beating, it's on 24/7 and runs great...so no complaints there.

Personally I would go for ASUS because of their awesome warranty (spill warranty ftw?) and the fact that they make quality desktop hardware back them up well. I haven't heard the greatest things about their customer service though, something to consider.

Gaming laptops have an extremely high hardware failure rate, so beware of that before you buy one.

---