
Subject: Re: Liquid trying to understand British logic - cleared
Posted by GoTWhiskÉY on Mon, 08 Nov 2010 22:29:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Aw I just noticed in the liquid/troop thread, Troop saying something along the lines of "I'm not gonna pull an H2O and dodge" wow lol... That was one of the main hallmarks of H2O was that we NEVER dodged. Actually, our last year active, it was very hard for us to get games at all because WE were the ones being dodged non-stop. Kill couldn't get on MSN near the end or it guaranteed us no games. There was a time in the auto-league, April 2004 when we won our first cup, that we were accused of 'dodging to win the cup'. Since we didn't play +FE+ (Who were total douches to us at the time, flaming us non-stop ingame and on the forums), we chose a friendly clan, VERB, and played them instead. At the time I was relatively new to the spirit of clanwars, and I do see how, to be fair, we should of played FE so that skill decides who gets the cup, not sheer points or amount of games. Once the Manual League was set up, I invented the First 2 Five tournament so that dodging couldn't decide a cup, like it had in the past. So to say that H2O 'dodges' is just ridiculous. If you actually ever competed at clanwars regularly, you'd know H2O was constantly LOOKING for games, not dodging them lol.

So sure, April 2004, My clan chose to play friends instead of assholes on the final day of the tournament, which inevitably led to us winning our first cup, and setting off an explosion @ the smak forums. If I had to do it all over again, would I? Damn right, because it was fucking awesome.
