if anyone thought hitman was getting worked up before, gosh

Quote:yet it wasn't enough, so now im 4-1 vs u with random teams every game, while u have been claiming to be the best strategist/player/etc around by a landslide... if people really thought you were as good as u think u are then sure enough they would of just simply co operated and won easily regardless if teams were a tiny bit unbalanced (not like islands which cant even be counted as a real game) since you should be able to make up for it, and u couldn't... im just sayin: maybe your not as good as u claim to be?

you desperately need to calm down, hitman. who would've thought my earlier comments would have hit you so hard? why did i have several people come to me privately telling me how badly you were freaking out at them too?

on the point of leading and strategy, i don't know why you think you have a point there. it's a simple fact that i kept telling everyone on TS repeatedly to do one really simple and important thing (get a tech and mine) - we had no tech but at least three people could afford one even without needing to use !donate, so they just carry on running around with base inf on the airstrip. i'm not sure why you think it's much of a criticism of me that i kept trying to tell people to do something important which would have certainly meant we would keep the win and they didn't do it?

Quote:and if your going to find some excuses for volcano: that was the only map i wasn't playing serious, i was hotwire rushing ref tunnel ALL game lol, regardless of how many people would be waiting for me there, and still made it to 2nd place with nearly no effort lol... sure enough i could of made quite abit more of a difference if i had gotten in a tank...

who's the one making excuses now? that's your game, not mine. i was just pointing out the fact we had two random guys joined who immediately went AFK on us. that's all, just a simple observation. i didn't pull a colossal rage about it like your team did on islands. seriously, just calm down

Quote:fact is spoon was never the best clanwar player never said i was, but you always said i was better than you until this thread, then you change your mind and say you were always better than me. that, my friend, is a textbook case of anger clouding judgement

Quote:he then claims he's a superb leader and is alot better in public type games where everyone wants to play seriously lol yet i am not impressed in the slightest no, you're not impressed, you're angry
