

---

Subject: Re: Who is the best Renegade player(s) nowadays?
Posted by GoTWhiskÉY on Tue, 07 Dec 2010 20:49:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I didn't know if I wanted to post again in here, but hey, its entertaining.
Spoony wrote on Wed, 10 November 2010 13:28dare i say... me? lol other than that, mike's very good, and that yuri1990 (might be getting the numbers wrong) who plays at jelly

lmfao

We think Spoony was drunk and just finished a MVP*4 @ noobstories when he wrote that. In the morning he woke up and was like, 'ah fuck i wrote that? Well, I can't back down now', so basically the thread will continue on now no matter what, forever or until players stop questioning it. I like the idea of letting the games do the talking, but even that ended with excuses (We weren't 8vs6 all game on volcano or any other game. It was 8vs8 on my screen, and maybe you had a few go afk during the games, but who knows or can really prove that. Who knows how many were afk on my team. You still had 6 people to repair the airstrip including yourself.)
You're a hypocrit for claiming we're all making excuses, then the next page comes along after you just lost a series, and you're making excuses too.

Not sure if Spoony ever did team sports growing up, but I did and still do, and, in sports, the best still never claims themselves as best. It makes everyone dislike you, and then analyze every single move you make. You think thats odd? I thought it was common sense. True champions never talk with an ego like that. Unless you're Floyd Money Mayweather, or a heel who uses that to purposely make people dislike him for more PPV buys. Brock Lesnar did something similar recently in UFC. He made everyone hate him by claiming he was the best, and people went crazy buying PPV's to see him get beat up. Eventually he was exposed and knocked out, sort of like whats happening here.

Since we will be starting to have lobby wars every weekend after this one, there will be plenty of games for (the people who care) to prove how goog they are. Since Spoony cares enough to claim he's #1, he better start backing it up soon, because so far all you've been showing us are statistics about how many comm-wars you've won, and funny claims like 'best mrl' and 'best light' lol. How do you have a 'best mrl' lol, that one always makes me giggle.

---