Yeah, you'll need to get a new serial, whether or not it was you that caused the ban.

Anyway, for future reference, to register a nick with XWIS, all you do is enter a name and password as if you were logging in. If that name isn't already taken, you will be able to see the server list and that name is yours. If it is already taken, you'll get another error in the window like the one that told you your serial was banned.

Also, only get your maps from reputable sites, like game-maps.net.

Oh man, I just checked the game-maps site again and they changed the layout. It now looks like a domain squatting page, but it's fine.
