With arg gee h 1.2 you could put an invisible bot over a players head, as it did not discriminate against non player characters and real players. This has now been fixed in previous updates.

There is a possibility you could perhaps trick the server into thinking bots where real players and use the same method, but I'm not sure that's possible, and it would be easily fixed.

Obviously, a public discussion of how to stop cheats is pretty stupid. Hense why I have not posted anything really useful.
