I wonder what made him do it in the end. Maybe just boredom and not caring anymore?

Personally, I doubt he was always using cheats. He was a very good shot, but he did literally nothing but snipe people in tunnels... he had lots of practice. Also, I'm sure The Pits ran RenGuard and he still played the same? I'm not sure he would have been able to bypass it at the time? I tend to believe he was a genuinely good player, who for some reason, turned to cheating. It's a shame.

In the last year or two I bet it wasn't the case. I agree he was a good shot, but not a "very good" shot. He definitely wasn't like how he was playing pulling off headshots 24/7. The cheat he used gets around renguard with ease...most cheats do. It was designed to bypass Renguard and is largely the most undetectable cheat in this game made. If the user is smart, it's extremely tricky to catch. One of our mods was set on catching him, it took a good month before he slipped up this way.
