With gamespy servers you can't see the server if you're on the same ip the server is on.

To kick or ban someone using the console you need to know the player's id, using the command "id <playername>" to find out what their id number is or just "id" should work too, the command "player_info" should also tell you (all commands without quotes of course).

The attached file should help you find out what each command does, some of them won't work as you need a more up to date version of Scripts on your server or SSGM as it comes with a more up to date version.
