Wouldn't it make more sense to get a pack going that isn't stuffed full of some of the worst examples of level design and texture work that this community has seen? You should set up a voting system complete with screenshots. Having to download gigabytes worth of garbage levels doesn't sit well with me, honestly.