
Subject: Re: Fanboy Thread #4 - Space Opera
Posted by Aircraftkiller on Sun, 21 Aug 2011 02:38:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nukelt15 wrote on Fri, 16 October 2009 01:13Star Wars, in general, is the better-developed universe and has a lot more potential for expansion because most people can usually agree on what the canon consists of. Trek on the other hand has been known to change its lore in every single iteration, and was just 'blessed' with an entire separate continuity.

Wrath of Khan, however, single-handedly owns the hell out of any live action Star Wars production. If it were a poll asking whether WoK or Empire Strikes Back is the better movie, Khan would win hands down. With one hand behind its back, even. Blindfolded.

I'm not sure where you're getting the "better established universe" from. Star Trek's story has been very consistent and developed for many years.
