When I first started playing Renegade online... and I mean within the first couple days of online multiplayer, I found a home on n00bstories.

I kept to myself and I don't think I talked to anyone. However about a day or two after playing for a few hours each on n00bstories, I found myself kicked and banned for no reason at all.

I remember just flying around in my Orca on Walls Flying when BAM "You have been kicked from the server."

I don't think I've ever gave n00bstories another chance ever again.
