Clearly it exists or else you wouldn't be talking about it.

Jeez, so many people have issues with the United States of America; maybe you should get off your lazy asses and do something about it if it really bothers you all that much. Either that or shut the fuck up, because being a bunch of whiny little bitches does not solve anything; and concentrating on the United States of America's flaws is definitely not going to help its standing in your eyes.

Although... if it didn't exist then you couldn't bitch about it, then maybe you could allocate your time more productively... or you would just bitch about something else; hard to say, we do exist so no reason to explore that further.
