you seem to avoid the fact that servers are going down at same time of tt 4.0 updates .

but really can say I am not the one doing this .

You are the one who was directly pointing your finger at the Server Owners themselves DDoSing; which I am denying and I am stating valid reasons why we wouldn't have any interest in doing such a thing. When I address your post as a whole, you're then criticizing me for not addressing another point? I think you just upgraded your Red Nose to the next level.

And what concerns TT; what ACK basically said is correct, if this was TT causing lag on the servers as a whole, this would have been noticed a lot earlier. That, and we have conclusive evidence that our servers were in fact attacked and that we're still investigating further.
