However, I really like the 4.0 server you've been running the last week or so. Its not 'over' modded and it has everything I want in a server. For me that is a nice mix of new and old maps, and players actually staying to play the new maps rather than emptying the server. And also as Gohhax said, there is a rating system on the maps where players can vote ingame! Sorry Jelly, but I might have to spend my last days here

St0rm is a lot better then it use to be that's for sure. I wouldn't join the server before because of the ridiculous modifications.
