

---

Subject: Re: Is it possible to be shocked but not surprised?

Posted by Jerad2142 on Wed, 19 Oct 2011 15:18:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

GEORGE ZIMMER wrote on Mon, 17 October 2011 17:10The funny thing is that somewhere, someone in the catholic church will defend this by citing something in the bible somewhere, and then everyone else will back them.

also, doesn't surprise me at all

However it shocks you I take it? Otherwise the statement you made is rather off topic.

I don't really think so, beings in order to be surprised you can't really have known about it, and if you always knew about it I'd have a hard time believing that you were shocked by it on a daily bases, but never felt any surprise that it was happening.

I mean, being shocked about information is a rather short term effect until you get used to it, and if it was enough to shock you I'd think you'd be surprised... otherwise it wouldn't be that shocking.

---